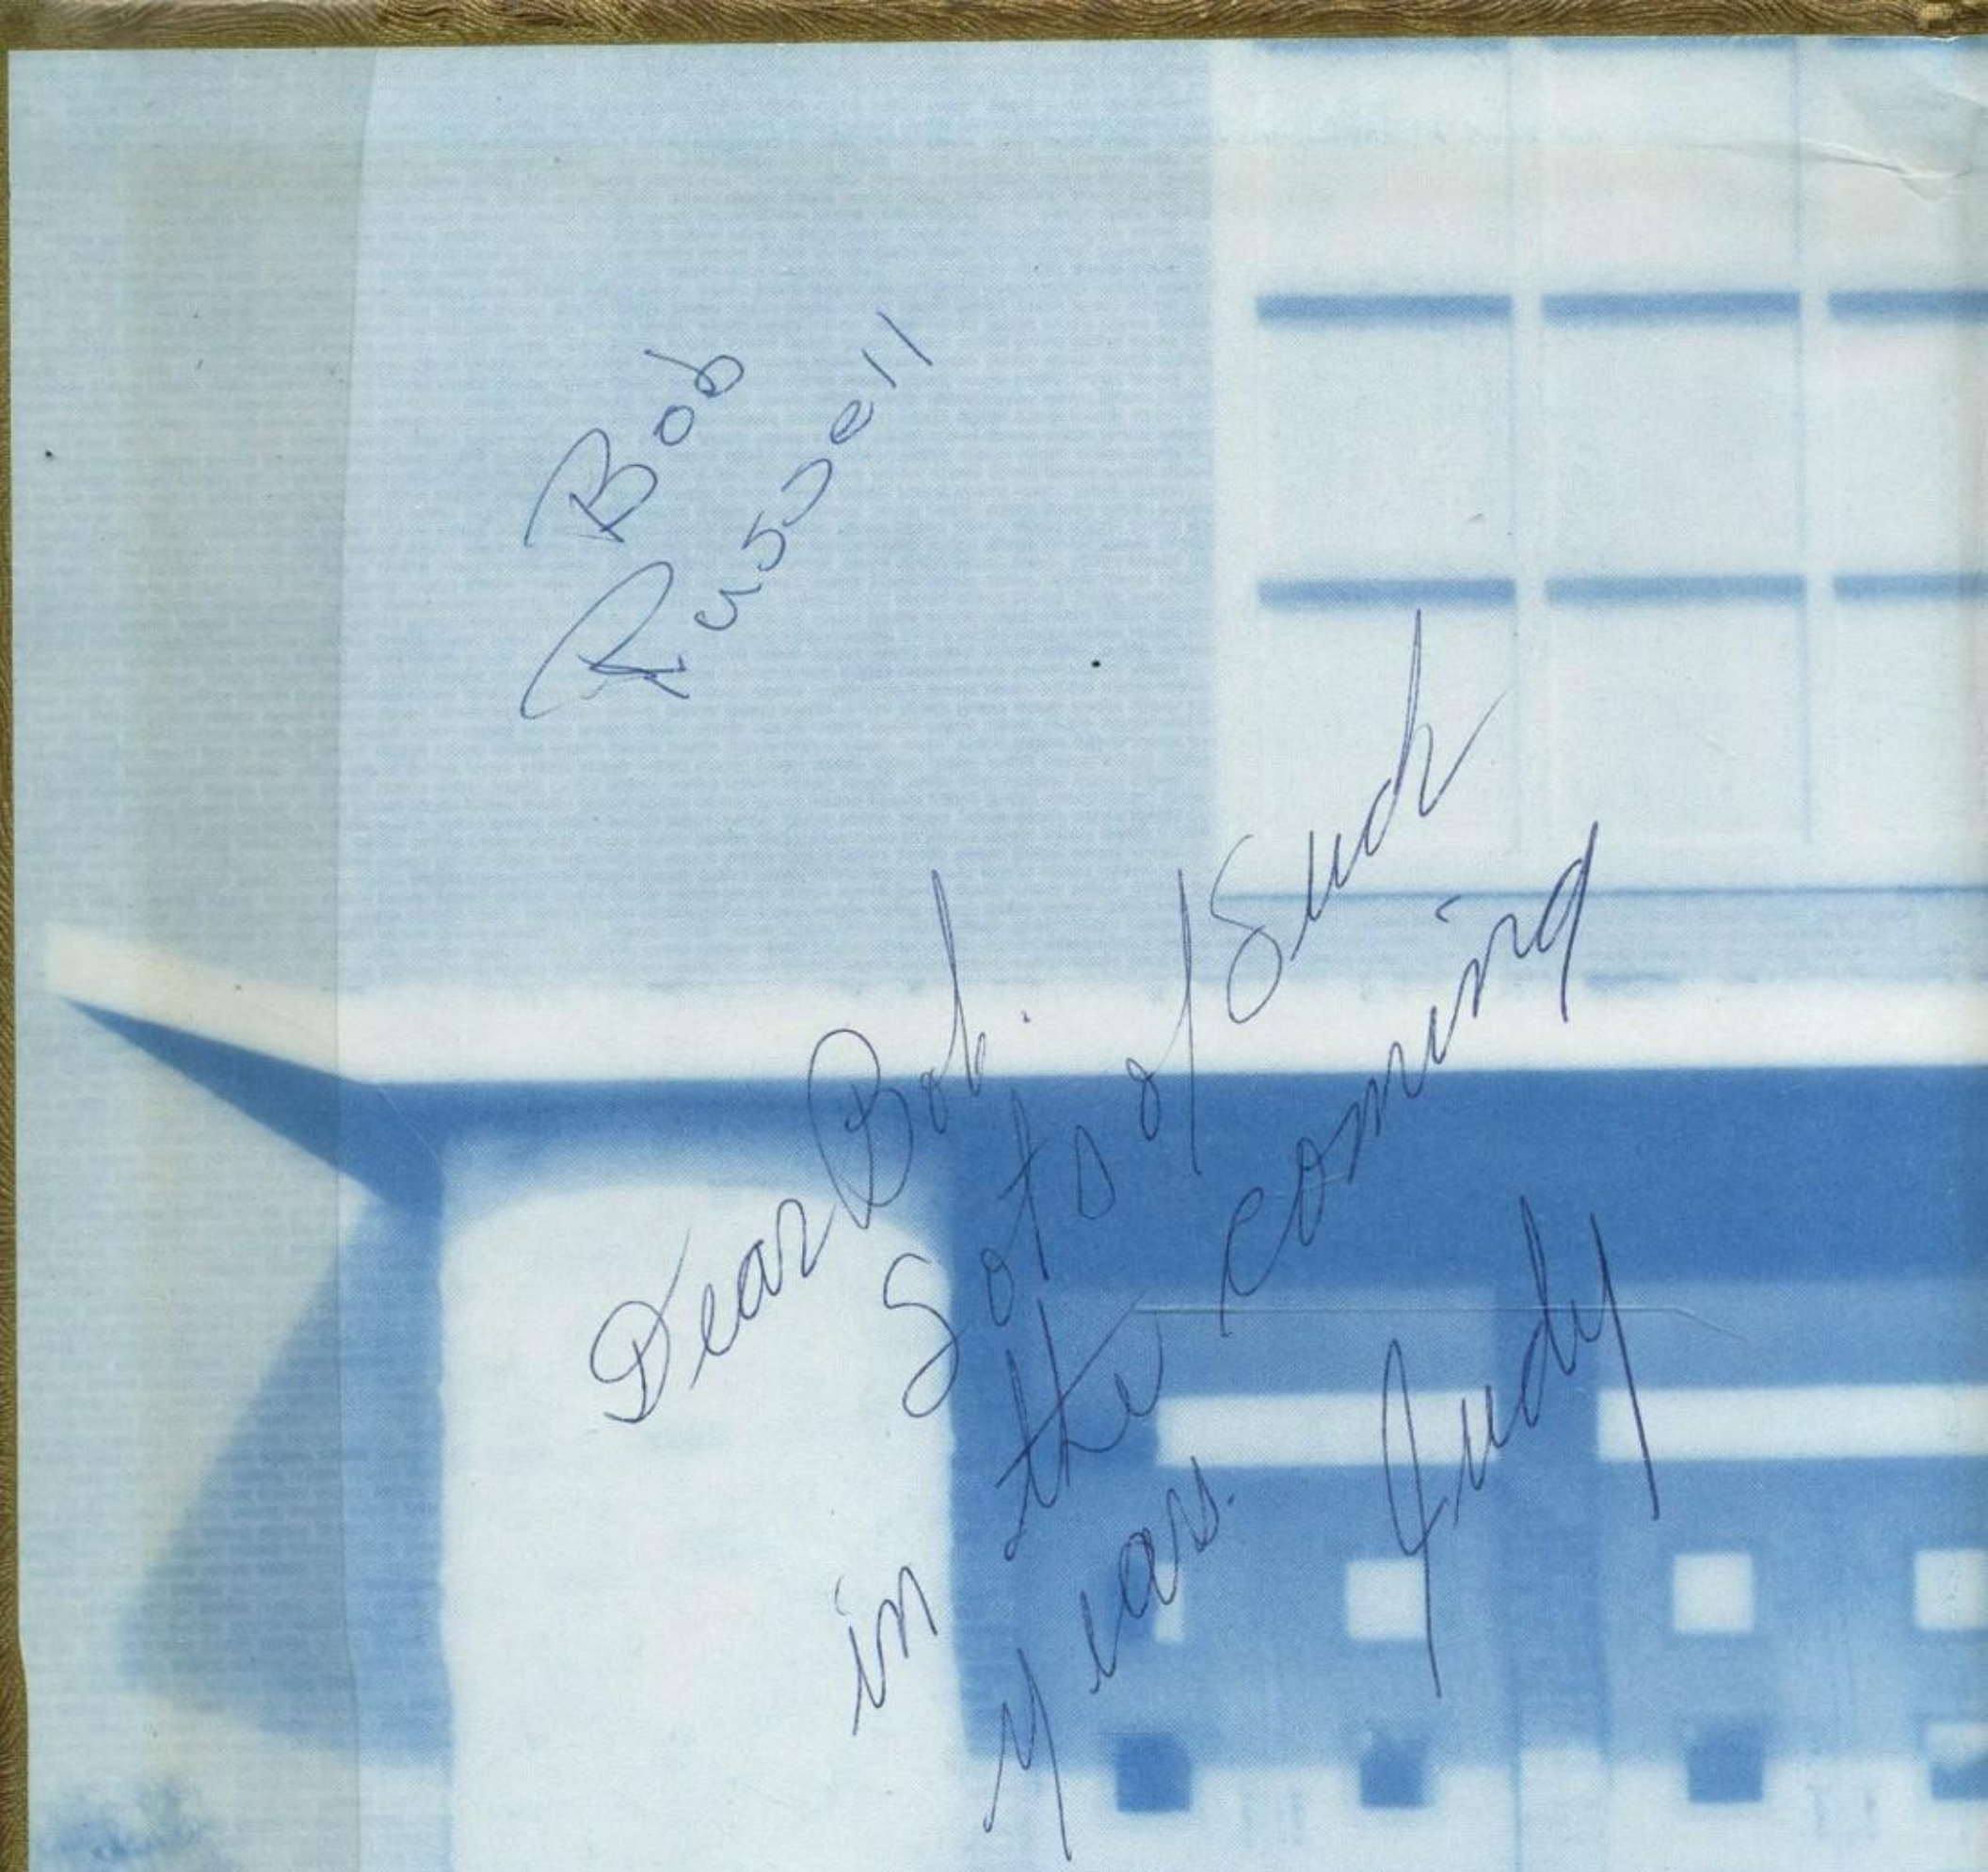
BEACON



Here, in the moonlight, are the portals of our building, as if dreaming of ten school generations of boys and girls, who have come and gone past the great stone pillar that guards the doors.

Lots of luck with that cute brunette.

THE BEACON

Bellevue Senior High School
Bellevue, Washington

1959

DEDICATION

To all those, who in the decade of our school's life, have come to the top of our hill, and helped to build a lofty edifice of traditions and ideals, we, the heirs of their traditions, dedicate the 1959 BEACON.

For ten years, the vault files have guarded the current records of Bellevue students. In 1949, there were only 400 "live" records. In 1959, Mr. Heidenreich and Mr. Watson have three times that number on file. Where do they put "us" when we graduate?

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Mr. Poirier and his winning "one hundred percent Beacon sales class' forged the first link in the bond of spirit that unifies life at Bellevue. The BEACON has tried to capture and preserve that spirit in its contents.

Top picture: Ten years ago there was no gym to be hurried to and from along picturesque walkways. P.E. classes rode a bus down to the junior high gym.

Bottom picture: There was also no wide, lushly curtained stage, and all stage productions took place in the old "Bellevue Elementary" auditorium.

Top picture: A tradition at Bellevue, as with teen-agers all over America, is that faithful friend of the social life—the telephone.

Bottom picture: "This is your morning bulletin!" The friendly voice of Larry Victorson enters the "mike" to make its way into the heart of every Bellevue student.

Top picture: Here waits the world's wisdom, parked in a humble row on the hall floor, 'til assembly is over and the students come to claim it.

Bottom picture: A tradition of graduation night's senior party is the placing of "handprints in the sands of time."

"WE PLEDGE ALLEGIANCE..."

As the clear tones of Barney Smith's voice soar out from the speakers on a Monday morning, four students stop in the hall near the office, to obey the call of patriotic tradition. It is wonderful to realize that in all the rooms of school, boys and girls are standing at attention, hand on heart, to salute OLD GLORY.

ADMINISTRATION

Great honor came to Bellevue district this year when Dr. George Brain, superintendent, was chosen by the State Department as one of twenty nationally known educators, for a two-month study of European educational situations.

On his return, Dr. Brain said, "It was a great opportunity to learn, first-hand, about educational problems and practices in many countries, and to observe cultural, social, and economic situations as well. But I am glad to be home."

We, at Bellevue Senior High, who knew Mr. Brain as a friend, are very glad that he is home.

A DECADE OF LEADERSHIP

Ten years as leader of Bellevue High School have done nothing to diminish the enthusiasm and optimism of Mr. Harold Heidenreich, principal. His unfailing encouragement and consistent cheerfulness have enabled the students of Bellevue to develop nationally recognized standards of academic excellence. He is truly an artist in human relations, blending courage and determination with warmth and understanding, to help each boy and girl achieve the greatest possible personal growth.

One of the most wonderful things about him is the sincerity with which he has been heard to say, "I would hate to work in a really big school. I want to know every student so I can say hello by name when we meet in the hall."

Again in his own words, "I can hardly imagine taking a job in another school. I don't think you could find a finer student body in the entire world." As for the teachers — they are truly dedicated educators."

The physical aspects of Bellevue High School have changed a great deal in the decade since September, 1949, when Mr. Heidenreich made his first appearance before a Bellevue student body of about four hundred. But today, the twelve hundred boys and girls of our school are privileged to know and love the same wise, courageous, dignified and devoted principal and friend—Mr. Harold Heidenreich.

TOP PICTURE: School Board—Mr. Al C. Thompson, Mr. Philip Bronson, Mrs. William Carkeek, Dr. Fernly Duey.

WISE, SINCERE, AND SYMPATHETIC

For the decade of its life on the hilltop above Bellevue, the program of the senior high has been directed according to the policies of the Bellevue District School Board. Our school has been fortunate in the fact that the board has been consistently wise, sincere, and sympathetic to the problems of students. In all the areas of high school interest—studies, clubs, sports—these men and women have been keenly aware of the needs and wishes of boys and girls. We look forward with confidence to Bellevue's next decade under such leadership.

Another group of adults inspired by devotion to the welfare of Bellevue's young people is the "upper office staff," actually housed below the high school hill in "old Bellevue." Designation of the group as "upper office" is traditional, however, because the members of this group are responsible for administration of many of the board's directives. For example, purchases of books and equipment are often handled at this level. Mr. Wahle, assistant superintendent, is well known for his deeply philosophical approach and his utter dedication to the problems of public education in the United States.

Top row: Mr. Holden and Mr. Sorensen pose a merry toast; Mr. Watson shows the secretaries, Mrs. Sulenes and Mrs. Diamond, how to use the new dictaphone. Insert: Mrs. McDonald.

Second row: Mr. Odle posts the tell-tale grades.

Third row: Mrs. McVey; Mr. Johnson catches up on the latest; Mr. Torgerson, a real hula hooper.

"Assignment not done? Why?" demands math instructor, Mr. Bierman, who, though peeved at times by late lessons, approves of the Bellevue kids for their courtesy. His dream, as prospective coach in the new high school, is to lick Lake Washington. "Retirement?" he gasped, at that: "Have to wait thirty-three years! I'm just a babe in arms."

MRS. LOUISE W. BROWN

One of the wittiest newcomes to Bellevue is the junior English teacher who was Miss Wicklund in September, but became Mrs. Brown about two months later. When relaxing from responsibility as junior social adviser, she enjoys good books, TV, and observing the oddities of human psychology.

MISS XENA CARMAN

Room 157 ranks among the most interesting and best decorated in school. It is the room of junior English teacher, Miss Carman, and is well known for its display of beautifully illustrated book reports. Miss Carman says her out-of-school ambition is to learn to play her Christmas present, a Hammond electric organ.

MR .JACK DALY

"Get your elbow out of my mouth," is a frequent lament of P.E. students enrolled in Mr. Daly's classes. Hailing from C.P.S., this "brunette with a permanent wave" takes great pride in the wrestling team, of which he is coach. As sophomore baseball coach, he adds still more to his reputation for zeal in sports.

MR. DONALD DISTAD

"Well, here we go to take part in the pagan festival," (pep assembly) says Mr. Distad, whose love for teaching U.S. and world history does not quite include such world-shaking events as a "two-bits" contest. Oddly this wise man is puzzled by people who fall ill just before one of his "easy essay exams."

MR. MARVIN L. DURHAM

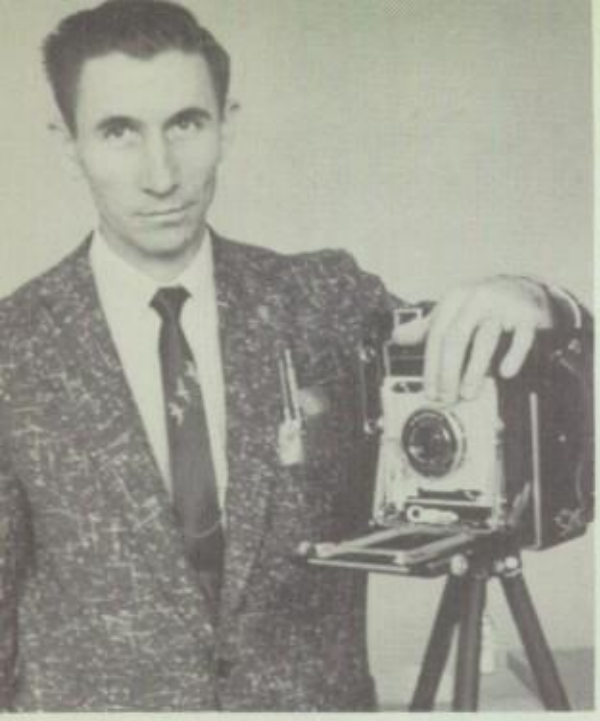
"The best way to insure a successful day is to start off smiling in the morning." This is the philosophy of junior counselor, Mr. Durham, who practices what he preaches and radiates good will all day long. Well, we'll buy that recipe, but have our doubts about his yen for "pompona en papel"—a Mexican fish cooked in paper.

MR. EDWARD EKSTEDT

"Let's not go hog wild here," begs Mr. Ekstedt of his classes. A proud new father, he claims that next to his love for his child and his job of inoculating students with history and economics, comes his love for Hungarian "wormhounds." As a Spades adviser, he inspires the Bellevue social service crusade for spastics. This summer he plains to take a "busman's holiday" and finish his book of satire on high schools.

MRS. DIANTHA FOWLER:

Mrs. Fowler, librarian, says she yearns to learn how to play a flute, so she can go home in the evening and tootle out temper over people who don't return library books. As assistant sponsor of Honor Society, she has another "keeping track of" job—for people's points for the longed-for pins.



MR. WALTER HAECK

Bend an ear, shutterbugs! Here, in the person of Haeck, are words for the unwise in f-stops, over-exposures, depth of field, and such puzzlers. Besides teaching photography, Mr. Haeck expounds the mysteries of pothooks in shorthand, goes to all the basketball games, and is fond father to a bevy of cute youngsters.

MR. ARTHUR E. HAINES

A popular sight at Bellevue is Mr. Haines in the greenhouse of his favorite class, botany. He also teaches zoology and biology, and coaches the oft-victorious track team. Summers he dons the uniform of ranger-naturalist in Mount Rainier National Park, conducts nature tours, and gets in a few climbs on his own.

MR .STANLEY N. HALL

A certain youthful biology-chemistry teacher, Mr. Hall, claims his favorite color is green, "as in money." Next year he will go in search of green pastures, in the new high school. "At home," says he, "I take core of one wife, one son, one daughter, and one favorite animal—chicken, fried golden brown!"

MRS. MARJORIE B. HANSLER

Though kept busy by sewing classes, Loyalty Club advising, and assembly planning, Mrs. Hansler is always willing to listen and give a helping hand to a perplexed home ec student. In summer she and her husband attend classes at the U. of W. They enjoy fishing and sightseeing on the Olympic Peninsula.

MR. DONALD D. HANSLER

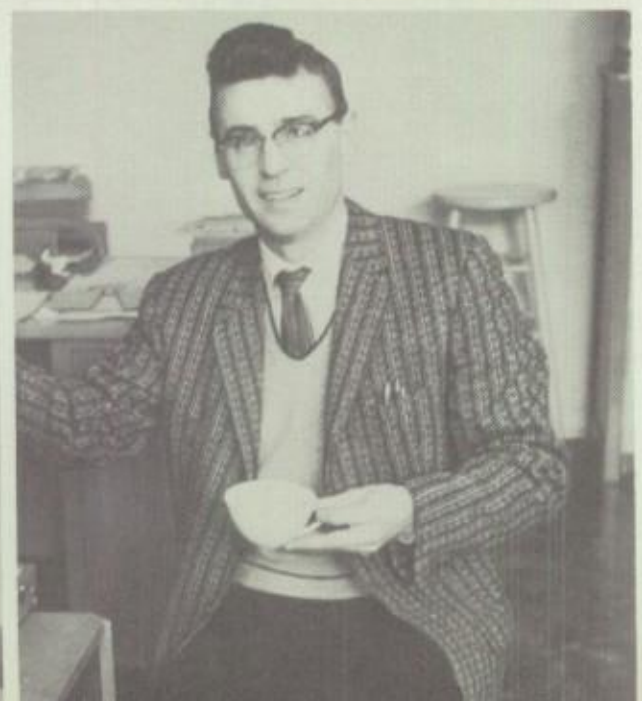
Always eager to help sophomores with any problem, big or little, Mr. Hansler has been a wonderful head social adviser for the class of 1961. The teaching of biology seems to fascinate him as much as the kids' problems do, and Bellevue will miss him when he moves to the new school next year.

MISS MARTHA HARDY

Hey, what's that floating around in 206? From outside it looks like dozens of mobiles, but inside you see that it's also Miss Hardy, swishing around about six inches off the floor, trying to get things done in calculus, trig, advanced geometry, creative writing and annual. She pulls up now and then to tell some yarn about her tree farms.

MR. GLEN W. HOLDEN

"Why, why, WHY?!" So demands Mr. Holden in western thought, psychology, and U.S. history classes. Candidate for a Ph.D., this energetic man is also an outdoorsman, having spent several summers as a fire lookout. His pet hue is blue, as in his Volkswagen bus, into which he tosses wife and children for many jaunts.



MR. RICHARD D. JENKINS

Developmental reading teacher, Mr. Jenkins, spends long hours in school and out on his passion—helping students improve their learning skill. He is assistant track coach, senior adviser, and U. of W. student. Kids who wear coats in class puzzle him —are they coming or going? His private gripe—"no time to read."

MISS THELMA JENSEN

"Those crazy teenagers," might cry an outraged taxpayer visiting Bellevue High, upon hearing the roar of a '58 M.G. zooming into the parking lot. But the initiated know that the "teenager" is Miss Jensen, geometry teacher. This surprising mathematician likes to muse, "It's a well-known fact that when one's gloves touch mud, it's not the mud that gets glovy."

MR. JOHN V. JOHNSON

Scrambling up and down an Everest of newspapers for gems of news for "contemp" and U.S. history students is the job of this cheerful newcomer to Bellevue. Between classes, Mr. Johnson flips the pages to Pogo and Peanuts. A dedicated jaunter, he plans schooling this summer "possibly in France." Meanwhile, he, Pogo and Peanuts listen to hi-fi in the evenings, no women allowed!

MR. J. LOWELL JONES

Thin face breaking into a wide grin, Mr. Jones, drafting teacher, lightens the mood of everyone he passes in the hall. Asked about his lucky number he replied, "The little symbol above the 4 on the typewriter,"—the $ sign! He is a fishing fan, which fact ties up with his taste for the whole outdoors.

MR. LEONARD JONES

Producing good drivers and football teams keeps a certain cheerful Bellevue eight-year veteran busy. Mr. Jones also bosses junior varsity basketball and Letterman's Club. In summer he enjoys sports on his own—water skiing and golf. His passive exercise is "Maverick." Maybe that tough western stuff toughens his nerves for driver's ed.

Lew Jones

MRS. MARY JEAN KEWLEY

Her firm, gentle air of knowing exactly what is best for her Latin classes makes Mrs. Kewley deeply respected and liked by her students. Escaping the clutches of Caesar and Virgil when school's out, she seeks the refuge of home, husband and garden. She knits "a mean stitch" too—perhaps on "long-johns" for her two pet dachshunds.

MR. WILLIAM LAMONT

Exchange student projects and completing his do-it-yourself home, take up the free time (scanty) of one of Bellevue's most intense pedagogues, Mr. Lamont. His energies are focused on senior English, humanities, and teacher training. He's a thin man, but not a molecule of him misses a minute of living.

MISS DONNA LEER

Some fine day, Miss Leer, diminutive and dainty senior counselor, may be seen loafing at an exclusive ski resort—after she has earned her master's degree. Having attended several schools, including one in Mexico, Miss Leer most fondly recalls her cheerleading days at W.S.C. She is adviser of the Wolverine cheer and song leaders.

MR. RAYMOND G. LINCOLN

From student at Lake Washington to baseball and sophomore basketball coach at Bellevue—who'd have thought? Mr. Lincoln did. He did it, too, and daily takes even worse risks as drivers' ed instructor. His plans for his summer include a nice safe spell of loafing in Bermuda. In the "shorts" too, we wonder?

MISS MARION E. LONGTIN

"Quizas, quizas," Miss Longtin often tells her Spanish students. Estudiantes who don't do their lessons are her pet peeve. In rare moments, she dreams of riches, world travel, having half-a-dozen haciendas in glamorous locations and a dozen short-haired cats. Being senior social adviser, she has scant time for such flights of fancy.

MR. EDWARD MATKOVICK

"C'est la vie!" or, "That's the way the ball bounces!" is a sage saying of Mr. Matkovick, French-German-Russian instructor. This handsome linguist from Czechoslovakia can bounce that ball in five languages, and ski in every language known, a fact well known to the ski club which he co-sponsors.

MR. WILLIAM E. MATTICK

"Need a wastebasket?" This is a favorite saying of Mr. Mattick about an un-favorite subject—chewing gum. A transfer from the junior high, Mr. Mattick likes his job as sophomore counselor so well he plans to stay with it. Tall and ramrod straight, he sets a fine posture example for any soph tempted to slouch.

MISS MARGARET McCARTHY

Now in her second year at Bellevue, witty Miss McCarthy, who attended the U. of W. and San Jose State, is kept busy and happy trying to teach girls to cook and eat properly. She says that at home she prefers, to food, showing slides of her trip to Europe last summer, and catching up on sleep.

MR. GEORGE L. MESHKE

Mr. Meshke, new to the Bellevue High "cast of characters," came from Zillah, where he taught dramatics and English. Here he teaches dramatics and Spanish. TV and people who outtalk him are his pet peeves. He says he plans to teach "practically forever," because he likes the "kind of show the high school kids put on the road."

MR. JAMES M. MORGAN

"I love 'em all, especially the nuisances!" So says Mr. Morgan, U.S. history and sociology teacher, in summing up his feeling about his students. As head social advisor to the juniors, he has plenty of chance to exercise his sentiments. He is fond of politics, too, and positively dotes on portable 3!

MR. FRANK ODLE

Ahead of the sun in winter, and on its first rays in spring, comes Mr. Odle. Then the "great rush" begins, as advanced algebra students dash in for help. A long-time tradition, also, is Mr. Odle's careful computing of grade points for Honor Society. Summers he "gets away from it all" in his red convertible!

MR. ROBERT OSGOOD

How many push-ups can you do? Enroll in wood shop. Be late to class and find out! Football coaching is the other specialty of Mr. "Muscleman" Osgood. Other characteristics of this U. of W. industrial arts major, are his cheerful spirit of cooperation and his big, happy grin.

MR. ELMON S. OUSLEY

Say "debate" and quick-as-a-gavel-tap everyone thinks of Bellevue's nationally honored debate and speech teacher, Mr. Ousley. This year, his third-quarter absence due to illness was all the more worrisome because Mr. Ousley, for more than a decade, has been one of the sturdiest, most energetic and beloved members of the faculty.

MISS DOROTHY ANN OUTZS

With endless enthusiasm Miss Outzs teaches girls' P.E., advises the G.A.A. and coaches the girls' ski team. This doesn't wear her out, so she does a lot of skiing herself, and gads around in the summer. After a decade at Bellevue, she is "deserting" to the new school. We wish she weren't.

MR. GENE PETERS

"Oh, not another (shudder) Beacon reporter," moaned Mr. Master Mechanic Peters of auto shop, to Beacon's editor, Bev. Mr. Peters believes that four aces bring him luck, but not enough to ward off "dumb Beacon questions." He likes to ski, and when asked where, replied, "On snow!" His sharp a.m. greeting to students is, "Good morning!"

MR. RUDOLPH PETERSON

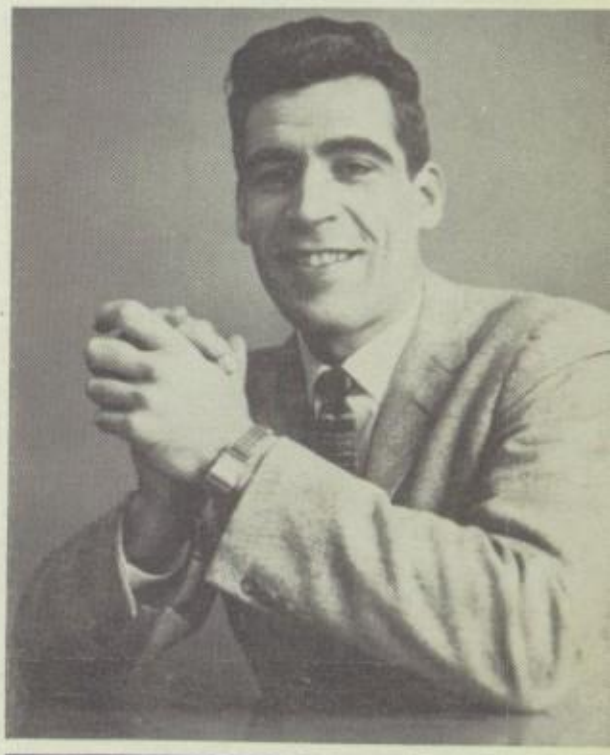
"All right, knock it off!" so speaks Mr. Peterson, new to Bellevue but rapidly getting the hang of things. On his way to and from algebra and biology classes, he meets his favorite frustration—kinds in knots in the hall. For fourteen years a naval aviator, he is active in the reserve.

MRS. ELDA M. PHILLIPS

Sa-a-y! Who's that cute brunette? Oh-h-h! she's a teacher! Mrs. Phillips, you say? There she goes, tripping down the hall with her big straw bag full of romantic—pardon—Romance—languages, Spanish and French. She says she aches with zeal to write a great novel. Bet it would be plenty lively and romantic!

MR. ALBERT W. POIRIER

"Tall, dark, handsome!" That trite expression comes to life in Mr. Poirier, metal shop teacher, who doubles in sophomore English. Declaring his favorite color "is blood," this mildly "hysterical" man admits another odd favorite—his "pet animal"—sophomores! TV pet—"Father Knows Best." Pet peeve—juniors! Why? Aren't juniors just sophs-plus-one?

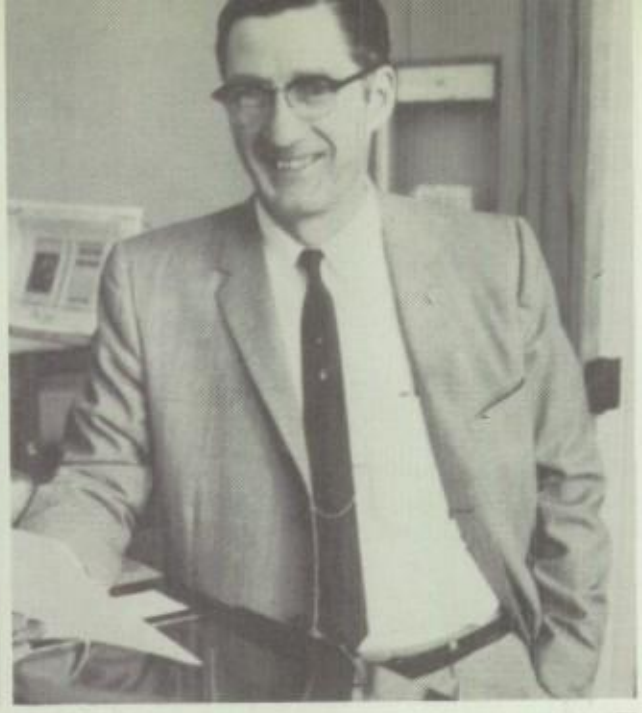


MR. TOM H. POTTER

It's not only the "bad pennies" that return. A very good, shiny one came back when Mr. Potter, one-time student at Bellevue, returned to teach here. He's gone "high" in a hurry, too, as he teaches sophomore English in the tower, and tells tall tales of his pet "skink." His favorite dream? Eight hours' sleep a night.

MRS. MARYLN REIMAN

"Bellevue sophomores are a terrific class," says Mrs. Reiman, meaning terrific-nice, not terrific-naughty. This tall, striking English teacher seems almost dramatically fond of her work—she corrects papers with such verve. She even has energy left for painting, sewing, music, reading, and the study of psychology.



MR. GEORGE RIEF

The "Great White Chemist," has strange ambitions. Mr. Rief longs to raise a thousand white cats, one million parakeets, a tuneful racket on a Rief-built hi-fi, and the shores of a south sea isle in a sail boat. Meanwhile he will settle for finishing his master's degree in educational psychology.

MR. A. F. RIGGLE

The United States Army dropped an E-bomb (energy bomb) into retail selling and distributive education this year, in the person of Mr. Riggle. This gentleman who has done extensive traveling in England, France and Scandinavia, likes traveling on snow with other ski fans. He also enjoys tending his "whitesy herd," whatever that may be.

MRS. STELLA ROGERS

Know how much money your club has? You should, but anyhow, Mrs. Rogers does, as she supervises A.S.B. accounting to the split penny. Other times, she teaches commercial courses, eggs the student stenos on to more and more crisp, clean duplicating, and wishes for more time for hubby, garden and pretty white cat.

MR .HAL SAWATSKY

When life's glad for Mr. Sawatsky, sophomore-junior English teacher, he says he loves "the general attitude of respect of Bellevue students for their teachers." But when life's bad because something interrupts class, he grits his teeth, "What difference will it make ten yeaars from now? Plenty!" Reading and records he always loves.

MR. J. BLAINE SCHULZ

A quick-change artist, Mr. Schultz, new to the high school, zips from business law to speech, to general business, to news-writing, to putting out the Barque, and back again next day. Formerly a professional newspaper man, and now man-of-all-work here, he cherishes the yen to be a "ski bum." Can't blame him!

MR. EDMOND SCHWEITZER

Lucky, lucky Mr. Schweitzer, to get to spend all day in study hall! Though color blind, he does not miss much up and down those long rows of tables. He is one of those versatile types who before coming here has taught subjects all the way from P.E. to social science.

MR. DON SIMMONS

Daily quips of Mr. Simmons, art teacher, are, "I don't know, what do you think?" and "Clean up time!" With prodding and inspiration, he keeps students happily busy in the crowded art room. As Art Club adviser, he lavishes help on poster projects, exhibits, field trips and sundry other artistic extras.

MR. JOHN W. SORENSEN

'Ya gotta coin?" this is the query that greets a late-comer to one of Mr. Sorensen's six civics classes. This blond, Danish, collar-ad type levies his tolls with the same gusto he brings to the federal tax structure and other civic puzzles. Off hours, he loves to sail a boat and eat his wife's cooking.

MISS JUNE STARK

From cozy fireside with a good book, to the sparkling cold of ski slopes, is the interest range of Miss Stark, petite junior English teacher. Though not new to Bellevue District, she is in her first year in the senior high. She plans an extensive European trip this summer. It's safe to say the juniors would like to tag along.

MR. JOHN N. TERREY

"What's the other major party besides the Democrats?" a student "innocently" asked Mr. Terrey, whose blank look raised another gale of delighted laughter. Between laughs, Mr. Terrey patiently expounds the fundamentals and incidentals of English "comp and lit" to seniors. Out of school, he is famous for impassioned speeches. Subject? Politics! Of course. He's Irish.

MR. ARNOLD TORGERSON

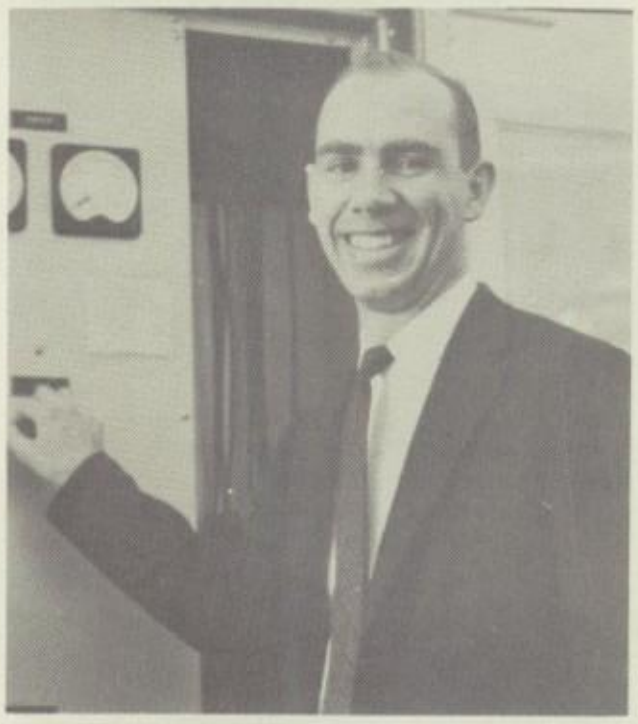
The ambition of Mr. Torgerson, attendance officer and scholarship consultant, is to write a book called "Excuses of Students Absent From School." "Oh, really?" says he to the average excuse. As scholarship chairman, however, he works with reality, and in his "spare" time is strictly down to earth with family, fishing and golf.

MR. FRED WHITNER

Wonder who keeps tab of football and basketball statistics? A math "brain," of course, Mr. Whitner, geometry teacher. Brawny, too, he spent a long Saturday nailing the junior prom together—the pillars, that is. A very suitable task it was, since he is a "pillar" of junior class affairs. His personal affairs include golf, cameras, spectator sports and wise-cracking.

MR. ROBERT C. WHITNEY

That Ichabod Crane effect on two wheels is "Professor" Whitney coat tails flying as he coasts downhill for an evening, plotting more challenges for teen-age intellectuals. Alternate years at Yale and Cornell, on scholarships, did not blunt his notions of the proper pedagogy for Bertie Bellevue, average physics quiz kid. He also has classy notions as senior class adviser.



MR. WILLIAM L. WICKER

The man who "waves that little stick" down in room 163, and draws such beautiful, inspiring sounds from sundry horns, drums and students is a true music enthusiast—Mr. Wicker. Band, dance band, choir, girls' glee and various other groups keep his baton very limber. Off-hours he likes to quietly fish.

MRS. VIRGINIA E. WIEDER

Patient, understanding, always ready to help—this aptly describes Mrs. Wieder, girls' adviser and sponsor of the Girls' Club. Besides these duties and supervising the clinic, she teaches soph comp and typing, meanwhile indulging a few dreams of travel in Switzerland and Ireland, where she would try her brush at landscape painting.

MR. GLENN O. YOUNG

The likes of Mr. Young, typing and P.E. teacher, should endear him to every Bellevue boy and girl—favorite colors BLUE and GOLD, and favorite animal, besides the jumping jackrabbits on the basketball team, his "mixed-up" dog. As basketball coach he pleads daily, in season, "one mor-r-re basket, ple-e-se!"

Now we give you "just the kids"—the tenth generation of teen-agers to pass to and fro across the foyer floor. Ask the faculty, and no doubt they would say that Bellevue boys and girls, like the foyer, have not changed very much.

And here is the very heart of the intellectual life of Bellevue—the library. The light, spacious room is new, but the idea is centuries old—that in books one can seek and find wisdom.

1st semester: Sue Abercrombie, Alice Althausen, Sue Baker, Michaelle Balogh, Elaine Bech, Pam Bettes, Roberta Brown, Janice Buke, Janis Burkholder, Tom Campbell, Nancy Chamberlin, Dee Dee Dickinson, Bob Doupe, Ken Emanuels, Art Goddard, Bob Goodlow, Beth Hage, Casey Hawkes, Sandy Hirai, Bob Hogan, Beth Holde, Jack Jewett, John Kalberg, Kitt Kelley, Margi Kelso, Lonn Liffick, Ray Longwell, Melinda Matsuoka, Robin Over, Vic Parker, Bill Pies, Bev Prior, George Rowley, John Ruhlman, Trudi Stoller, Mike Strandberg, Terry Strandberg, Sherrie Thurston, Mike Tinney, John Vincent, Bob Warwick, Gordon Wotherspoon.

LEADERSHIP LOOKING BACK . . .

A tenth year of unified student government is closing, with the last official acts of dedicated A.S.B. officers. President Skip Duke's leadership was outstanding, and solidly backed by vice-president Barney Smith, secretary Margot McDonald, and treasurer Jennie Numoto, whose heavy duties required the appointment of assistant Jim Walthew.

"Looking back,' says Skip, "we recall the A.S.B. part in paving the parking lot, the money-drive for the high school, and other cooperative student efforts. The seniors leave to the underclassmen a hope that they make the most of the once-in-a-lifetime days of high school. We graduates know regretfully that we may never see some of our classmates and teachers again."

Barney Smith says, "I got my deepest thrill from leading the Flag Salute—one of the finest privileges in high school life."

Last word from Skip, "Klobber those Kangaroos!"

...LEADERSHIP THROUGH THE YEAR

Senior Class Council: The Senior Class Council, led by Skip Lindblad, president; Steve Day and John Ruhlman, vice-presidents; Jennifer Blackburn and Janet Shoudy, secretaries, and Terry Smith and Vic Parker, treasurer, was very active, although few seniors will forget what adviser Whitney called the "Fruitcake Fiasco." Another project was the Senior Carnival.

Junior Class Council: The Junior Class Council, under the leadership of president Keith Dowie, vice-presidents Jim Hubbard and Dennis Hebner, secretary Judy Davidson and treasurer Gary Groth and Bonnie Funk, led the class in winning the Homecoming Plaque and in initiating a seniority list to be approved by the Senior Class Council. This list consisted of privileges which would be passed from one senior class to the next.

Sophomore Class Council: Under able leaders like Gary Hirotaka, president; Keith Black and Lynn Sutcliffe, vice-presidents; Jean Dahlstrom and Jo Ann O'Keefe, secretaries; Pam Hage and Jette Wyman, treasurers, the Sophomore Class Council launched a campaign for class unity, since this class was composed of students from both junior highs. The council sponsored many projects to further this unity.

UNITING THE OLD...

Girls' Club: Madge Gomez, Girls' Club president, guided the girls through a successful and enjoyable year of activities. During a two-month European trip absence, Susie Long took over the presidential duties and, assisted by Mrs. Virginia Wieder, the club continued to operate smoothly.

The first undertaking of the group was the annual dinner. Headed by co-chairmen Gail Bilodeau and Cathe Muller, an Italian theme was carried out through decorations, costumes, publicity, and the spaghetti dinner.

This year, for the first time, the club had a "Girl of the Month," who was chosen from one class every month. At the Mother's Day Tea, one from the group was named "Girl of the Year."

The year was climaxed too soon. The annual Tolo, held in the spring, was accompanied by the traditional Tolo Week. Then, the year came to an end with the Mother's Day Tea.

...INCLUDING THE NEW

Led by John Weatherford, the boys of Bellevue High School contributed much to the welfare and betterment of the school and its community. Periodically, Boys' Club Council gathered to decide and plan activities. They worked industriously throughout the year on the decided projects.

In the fall, a clean-up committee was organized and, once a month, boys gathered to clean up the school yard. As the semester progressed, the Boys' and Girls' Clubs jointly began planning a Christmas Dance. This dance, the first one of its kind, was highly successful due to the diligent work of both groups. Several interesting assemblies were planned for Boys' Club. At these assemblies they had interesting guest speakers. One showed slides of the crew race in Moscow. In the spring, the boys had a Father-Son Sport Night and, later on, a "car smash." Again this club was a service to the school.

AND JUSTICE FOR ALL

A.S.B. Court: Directed by Judge Barney Smith, the six-member A.S.B. court, on alternate Wednesdays, gathered to hear cases of violation of school rules. This group worked thoughtfully all year to help maintain order and justice at Bellevue High.

Drivers' Council: "We don't like to discipline students for violation of driving rules, but . . ." these words of Roger Brockmeier typify the feelings of the Bellevue Drivers' Council. The thirteen members, with Mr. Watson as faculty adviser, gathered frequently to hear the cases of driving offenders. By the best efforts within their power they promoted safe driving among students.

CLASSES

Seniors, juniors, sophomores, all together as here in the study hall, form the young, wholesome, American blend that is Bellevue, our school.

"FARVEL PETER"

This year Bellevue was especially privileged to have an interchange in its foreign student program. Peter Randlov came to us from Denmark, and Midge Moch went to Denmark. By this exchange Bellevue received two personal accounts of life in a Scandinavian country.

Peter came over last fall and stayed with us the whole school year. Not only through "official" talks, but also by informal speeches and discussions in class, we learned a great deal about the Danish life and everyday experiences. Peter taught us that the Scandinavian and American were closely akin in living habits; however, the Danish do not have the many luxuries we enjoy. By Peter's visit to Bellevue our lives were deeply enriched and our knowledge of Denmark and its citizens were infinitely enlarged.

Through Midge's visit to Lyngby, Denmark, we learned much more about foreign culture. She returned in January, from a semester in school, bursting with enthusiasm about the Dane culture and eager to relate her ideas to us. Midge was very impressed by the welfare state of the Danish government. Although their political theories are different, the people were the same as Americans. Their zeal to help and educate Midge in their native customs points up the propinquity of nations throughout the world.

Thank you, Midge, for being an excellent example of an American citizen. God bless you, Peter, we've enjoyed your visit and will always remember you.

AT THE TOP

We present the class of 1959, exactly one decade after the first class to graduate from this building and the last to graduate while Bellevue District has only one high school.

Back in '56, as sophomores, the class of '59 swung into action by winning the Homecoming window contest. Midge Moch and Lee Lee McGuire were soph princesses. The Soph Hop Oriental Fantasy, came next. For the first time, sophomores were included in Honor Society, and spring saw the brawny as well as the brainy class cleaning up the school grounds.

At the '57 Homecoming, the Bellevue Wolverines chewed up the Issaquah Indians, 40-0, and the class of '59 also achieved a victory with their second Homecoming window. Princesses were Susie Long and Midge Moch. Come Christmas, the juniors sold a tasty batch of fruitcakes, then in January presented a "heavenly" prom, Celestial Winter.

Finally the class began its last year at Bellevue, led by president Skip Lindblad, vice-presidents Steve Day and John Ruhlman, secretaries Jennifer Blackburn and Janet Shoudy, and treasurers Terry Smith and Vic Parker. Betty Thomas reigned as Homecoming queen, accompanied by Janet Shoudy and Susie Long. The cheer and song leaders, fervent, smooth and skillful, led the school in spirit drives. Midge Moch, on an American Field Service scholarship, swapped countries with Peter Randlov from Denmark.

Once again the class sold Christmas fruitcakes, then set up a new tradition, the Boys' and Girls' Clubs Christmas dance. His classmates were happy to welcome back Terry Smith, who, after a year of across-town classes on intercom, returned for his senior year in the building.

Then came the lovely senior ball, as the class of '59 wound up three wonderful years at Bellevue. At the approach of Commencement, all seniors looked upward and outward toward the many ventures of life beyond the walls of high school, knowing wistfully that they would never forget their happy days in the haunts of good old Elmer.

Getting ready to mount the top step as seniors, the class of 1960 started its junior year last September as a very ambitious tribe indeed. Enthusiasm and ability were clearly evident in the class contribution to the Variety Show, where performers ranged from the jungles of Africa to the white sands of Hawaii, enchanting the audience.

During Homecoming the juniors produced a jazzy skit that helped them win first place, and by winning the Homecoming Plaque they made Diane Dickson, junior chairman, mighty proud. Two junior belles, Karen Kachel and Kitt Kelley, helped reign over the Homecoming dance.

Sherrie Thurston represented the 60's as songleader, with typical skill and verve. Dinah Flanders jumped in during basketball season to spur the Junior Varsity toward success. The setting of an Arabian palace garden provided lush background for the junior prom, and as co-chairmen, Beth Seidl and Sherry Smith kept tab on the strong committees that made the dance a gala event.

With gavel, pen and ledger, the class officers played vital parts in the year's history. President Keith Dowie presided over meetings with the air of a veteran, while rapid-note-taker Judy Davidson proved an excellent choice as year-long secretary. Jim Hubbard and Dennis Hebner, athletes, were vice-presidents. Gary Groth and Bonnie Funk counted the cash in the treasury department as smartly as digital computers.

Flying through frosty air, swishing through snowy gates, and pell-melling across country, junior members of the ski team brought sparkling form to the winter sports program. The class also made its fame and plenty of letters in football, basketball, baseball, wrestling and track.

As for the junior exchange student, Trudi Stoller, what is her destination in foreign lands? As this article goes to press, not even Trudi knows. But the trip will be rewarding, whether to France, Spain, South America, Denmark, or the moon, and Bellevue wishes Trudi a safe return to the riotous ranks of her classmates.

Next year, everybody, keep on eye, behind your dark glasses, on the dazzling doings of the "classy" class of 1960!

"Two bits, four bits, six bits, a dollar!" Look at those sophomores stand up and holler!

"All in their numbers!" scoffed the juniors and seniors. "Our spirit!" retorted the sophomores.

Well, there is no denying that the class of 1961 has a lot of vim and vigor, and the unity that promises well for their next two years at Bellevue.

This busy bunch stepped right into the swing during Homecoming, under chairman Sue Abercrombie. The class had much to be proud of that evening, with Dawn Rae Sorenson and Jean Dahlstrom as princesses, and two football lettermen fighting for the pigskin.

Under the leadership of president Gary Hirotaka, with Keith Black and Lynn Sutcliffe as vice-presidents, Jean Dahlstrom and Jo Ann O'Keefe as secretaries, with Pam Hage and Jette Wyman as treasurers, the sophs made many other good showings. "Maiden Voyage," the soph hop, was the year's maiden dance, bossed by Tim Douglas and Joe Hauser.

Some talented little lovelies went Italian for the variety show, contrasting with clever sophs as planets in the Beacon assembly. By the way, who was that cute lass in bathing suit and hula hoop, and who fell flat on her face at the finale? In the spotlight at games were Barb Lacey and Vaughn Mason, who helped cheer the junior varsity basketball team to victory. Even on the ski slopes the kidlets showed their kicks, helping Bellevue's team into the classy category.

There was the usual upperclass feminine muttering about "cradle robbing," and the chronic beefing of older boys about the youngsters' lack of kowtow for seniority.

"But hang onto your howlers' hats!" sing out the sophs. "Next year we're going to be a long way up from the bottom!"

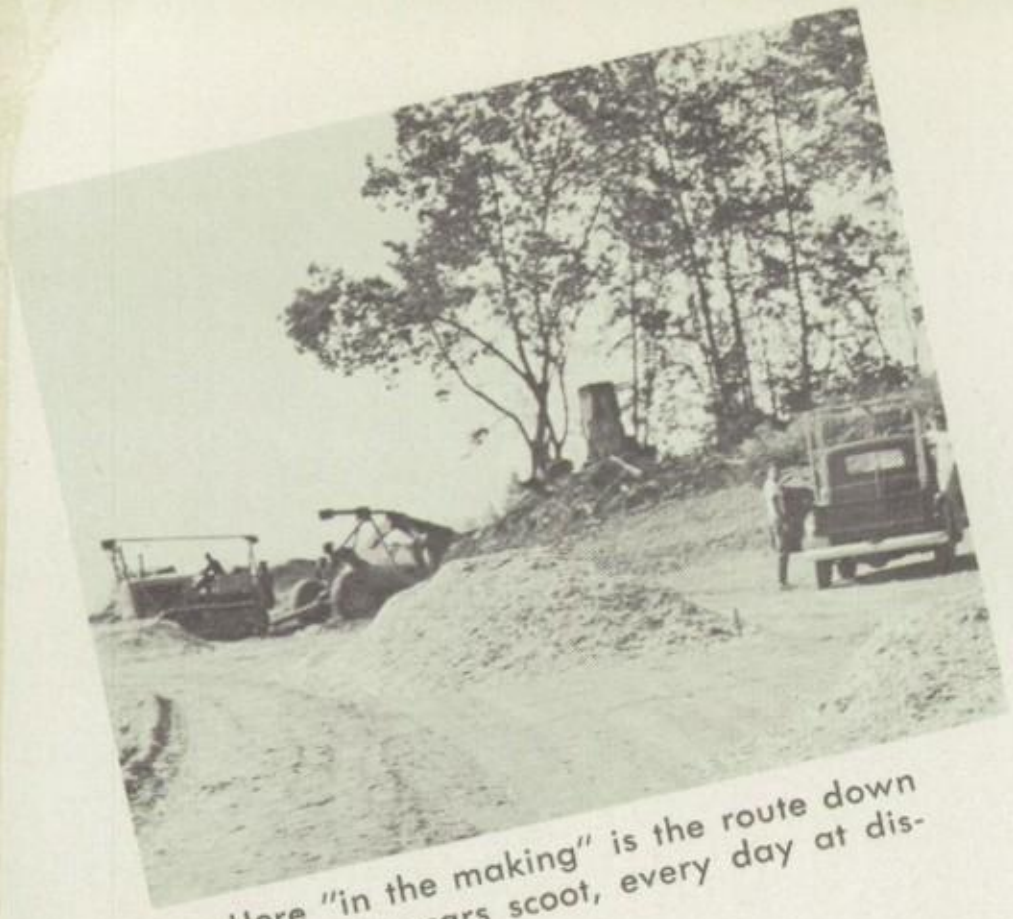
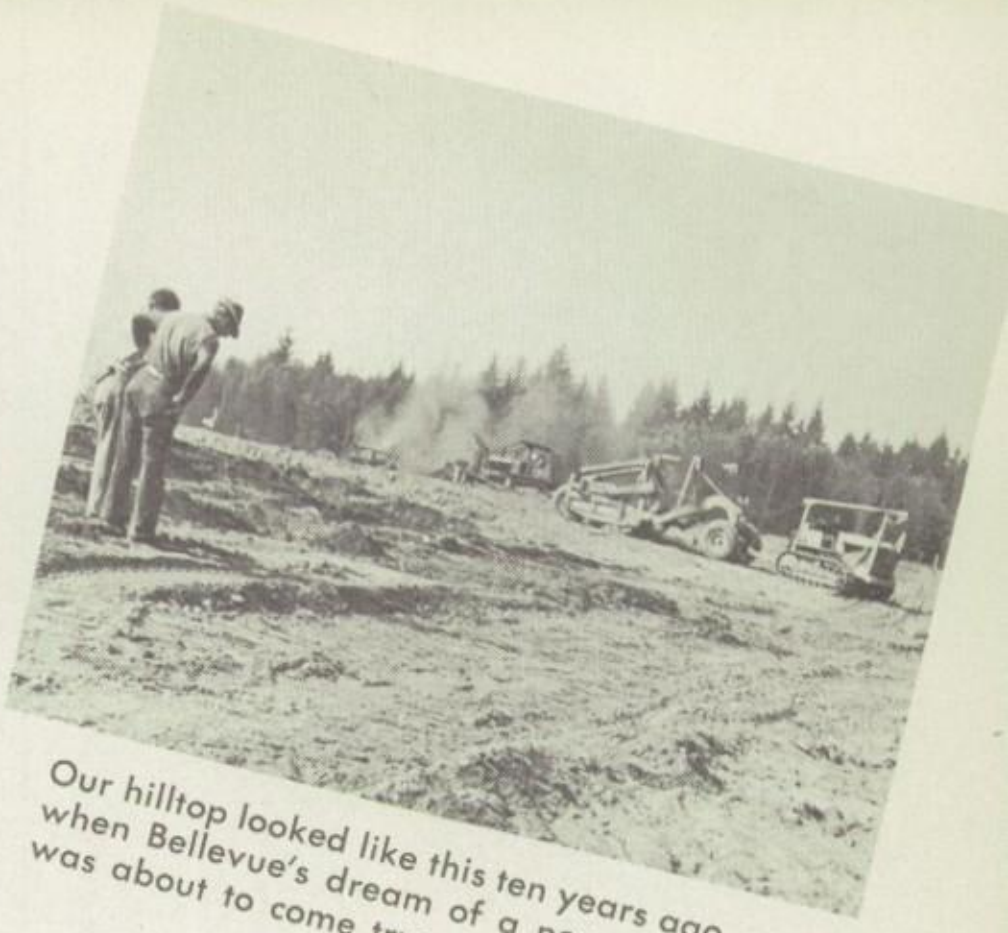
These seven faculty members who have been at Bellevue High School at least since 1949, are vital elements in our school's ten-year tradition of scholarship and spirit.



Here "in the making" is the route down which the cars scoot, every day at dismissal time.

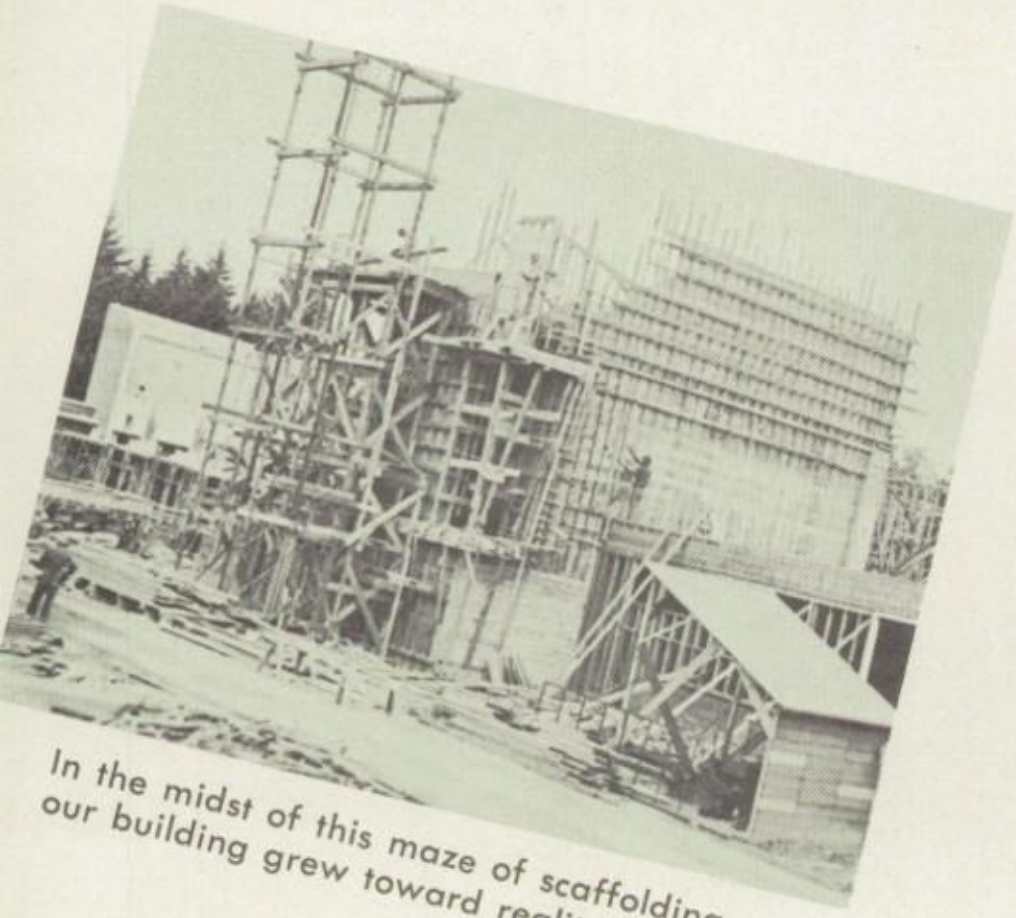


Our hilltop looked like this ten years ago, when Bellevue's dream of a new school was about to come true.

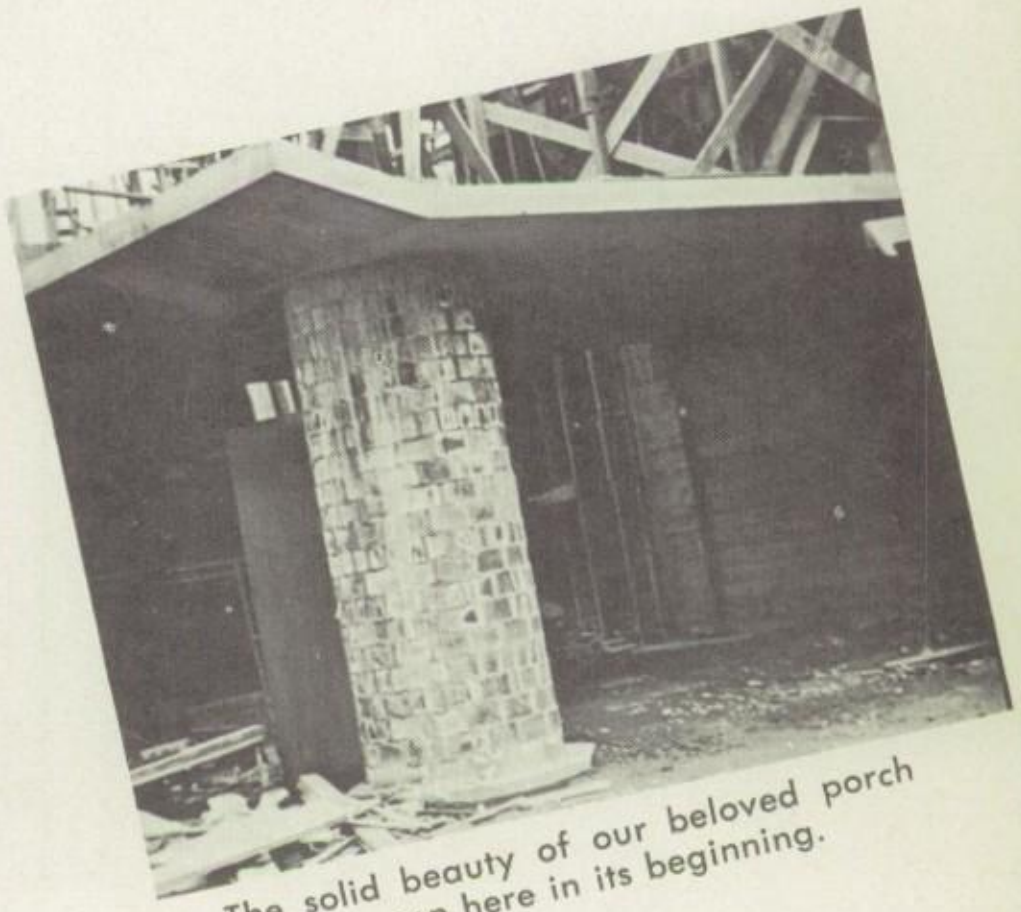
Backed by the pure blue of the spring sky, Bellevue Senior High School stands majestically facing crisp white mountains and the sparkling lake.

For a decade it has stood so, on top of its hill, and the ruddy hues of its staunch masonry have been a warm, friendly beacon to ten high school generations.

In the future life of every boy and girl, the building will still stand as a symbol of what is worth striving for — such as courage, honor, wisdom, friendship.



In the midst of this maze of scaffolding, our building grew toward reality.



The solid beauty of our beloved porch pillar is seen here in its beginning.

The first students to enter the big front doors, in the winter of 1948-49, are seen here, about to make their initial venture across the foyer floor. Many are the young feet that have since crossed this threshold, as their owners have entered upon the wonderful adventure of life in high school.

Far above the clear lake water
With its waves so blue,
Stands our high school alma mater,
Royalty to view.

Raise the chorus, speed it onward,
Sing with praises fair,
Hail to thee, our alma mater,
Hail, all hail, to thee.

ENTERTAINMENT

The bright lights of the theater, falling on concert performers, illuminate Bellevue's ideals of wholesome fun and entertainment.

SENIOR PLAY CAST—Leslie Gardiner, Kerri Wolfstone, Sandy Sarles, Chris Wilson, Bev Prior, Melinda Matsuoka, Jack Burton, Bill Brazda, Roger Sims.

"YEARS AGO"

"Years Ago," a serious dramatic production, was presented by the senior class, under the direction of Mr. Meshke and Karen Severts. Properties were handled by Beth Holde and Gretchen Edwards.

Ruth Gordon (Sandy Sarles) wanted to be an actress; her mother (Bev Prior) yieldingly approved, and her father (Chris Wilson) was unaware of his daughter's desire.

Ruth encountered several obstacles to her career: the woman gymnastics teacher who tried to persuade Ruth to take up teaching; Ruth's unsuccessful attempts to hide her drama magazines from her father; Ruth's failure to keep her boy friend (Bill Brazda) out of the house. The family cat, Punk, stole several scenes although his role was trivial.

Ruth Gordon finally obtained her wish and the highly dramatic presentation ended as the train whistle summoned the heroine to the Broadway stage.

ALL-SCHOOL PLAY CAST—Ed Loomis, Sue Loomis, Beth Holde, Leslie Gardiner, Bob Doupe, Dick Engstrom, Bill Brazda, Sandy Sarles, Doug Cowan, Mikey Upson, Sherrie Thurston, Diane Crane, Jim Prior, Judy Gedney, Jan Lund, Sue Levis, Dan Putman, Marilyn Riedel, Franja Carlson, Mary Little, Terry Moskowitz, Cathe Muller, Jemy Mackey, Denise Storck, Jack Burton, Chris Mitchell, Julia Tam, Nancy Garwood, Nancy Jo Evans, Jim Ladd, Joanne Ivanek, Pete Peterson.

"STAGESTRUCK"

After six long weeks of rehearsing four nights a week, the more dramatic members of our student body took on the roles of stage-struck actresses in a New York boarding house.

The story told of a girl (Sandy Sarles) who had to choose between the harsher, fleeting romance of Hollywood and the more lasting wonder of a career on the legitimate stage. Her final choice was influenced by many members of the cast including a playwright (Doug Cowan), her friend, a Hollywood star (Mikey Upson), a movie producer (Bill Brazda), and two other aspiring actresses (Leslie Gardiner and Sherrie Thurston).

The show moved smoothly without a speck of prompting and only a few initiates noticed the missed cues. Mr. Meshke was coach, and Julia Tam student director.

AROUND THE WORLD

"Lights, camera, action," were the words of C. B. DeMille (Bob Doupe), which started a trip around the world for the audience of this year's variety show. Mr. DeMille, lovingly called "C.B.," is the famous producer of that well-known movie "Around the World in Eighty Minutes."

The spectators not only roamed the world without leaving their seats, but they also saw all the behind-the-scenes action, such as scenery changes, and all the problems such as broken record players. Sid Vanderhoek and Mike Bartos assisted C. B. in filming the world-wide tour and never let the audience wander off the route of travel for even one "lost" minute.

The expedition was expedited by the expert guide, Mr. Sawatsky, and the capable map-work and supply planning of Jennie Numoto and John Chaffins.

SWINGING TO SUCCESS

Off to a rhythmical start in September, the Bellevue Senior High band prepared many half-time shows, under the baton of Mr. Wicker and the leadership of drum major Bob Doupe. Drum majorettes were Diane Miller, Nancy Jo Evans and Dotty Wertman. They and the players all gave their most active efforts to build school spirit with booms, blares and blasts at pep assemblies and home games.

Next the band got ready for the swing concert, an event that was most melodiously successful. Another contribution was concerts at the junior high schools. The band also went to the Kingco Band Festival, this year at Mercer Island High School.

At Everett the group took part in the state band concert, and again drew awards for excellence. The spring concert was the highlight of the latter part of the year. All these successes were made possible only by continual work, work, work at a literally "breathtaking" pace, coupled with talent and dedication.

MORE MUSIC

A number of unusually ambitious members of the band, eager to take advantage of their musical opportunities, have formed various ensembles within the band itself. In February these ensembles —the saxophone sextet, the French horn quartet, the trombone quartet, the flute trio and the dance band—were entered in the solo and ensemble contest held at the University of Washington by the Western Washington Music Education Association. Each of the groups received excellent or superior ratings.

The dance band has entertained on many occasions both here and out of Bellevue High School. It participated in the variety show, the winter swing concert, the spring concert, the school administrator's conference and junior high school concerts. Too, the dance band has frequently provided music at Bellevue High School sock dances.

"THERE'S A SONG IN THE AIR"

Under the enthusiastic leadership of director Mr. Wicker the Bellevue High School choir has completed another successful year filled with activities. Four choir representatives attended the all-Northwest Music Festival: Sue Morris, Cindy Seaver, Brenda Blastic, and Lori Short.

Participation took place in the University of Washington solo-ensemble contest, to which Lori Short and Sue Morris were delegates, also.

At Christmas time the choir sang in the Bellevue Plaza as a part of the annual program. It received first place for its appearance.

Appearance on television, in the King County Choral Festival, the variety show, swing concert, and Christmas assembly were other activities of this extremely hard-working group.

In the spring the whole choir took part in the state's contest and the very successful spring concert. Its prosperous year was brought to a climax when it made its final appearance at baccalaureate service.

MELODIOUS MUSIC

Senior Septette: Lending their vocal talents and charm to many functions, both school and community, the senior septette received a superior rating in the University of Washington ensemble contest. This melodious group has performed before teas, dinners, concerts, assemblies and the variety show. Organized for three years, the septette has blended together into a fine harmony of rich voices that will be missed by all when they depart.

Glee Club: A delightful chorale group, under the direction of Mr. Wicker, aptly describes Bellevue High's glee club. This group, which is composed of girls from all grades, has entertained many audiences throughout the year. The girls have sung for school in assemblies, and performed in the swing concert. Last fall they appeared on television, and have sung with the choir and band.

ATHLETICS

Through a decade Bellevue has welcomed new ideas in studies and activities. Wrestling has now made its place among the major sports.

V-I-C-T-O-R-Y

Full of pep and good old fashioned enthusiasm, this year's cheerleaders and song queens had a full season promoting spirit throughout the entire student body. Maxine Early, Nancy Garwood, Mick Lawson, and Steve Balogh led the team on to victories with old yells as well as new. Steve and Mick could be seen doing one of Bellevue's favorites, VOOTIE, at every game. Swinging their hips to the tune of Hawaiian War Chant, Sherrie Thurston, Nancy Newman, Lani Gruger and Betty Thomas certainly made a hit.

BELLEVUE SAYS "HI GRADS"

Homecoming dawned wet and rainy, but the gloom didn't dampen the mighty Juniors' spirit. Winning the spirit and skit contests, they walked away with the Homecoming Plaque. With Mr. Terrey as Master of Ceremonies for the traditional pep assembly, much "Beat Mount Si" spirit was generated. The cheerleaders and song queens then yelled the team on to victory. With Betty Thomas as our beautiful Homecoming Queen and Princesses Susie Long, Janet Shoudy, Kitt Kelley, Karen Kachel, Dawn Rey Sorenson, and Jean Dahlstrom reigning, Homecoming was the best ever!

PRACTICE AND

Practice and more practice is the spirit behind the junior varsity and sophomore football teams. With the true spirit of the Wolverines these boys gain valuable experience and knowledge which will help lead next year's varsity team to the level of champions.

Never losing hope, always there to help; coaches Bierman, Osgood, and Ewing taught the team, stayed with the team, and helped each boy when he needed help.

Getting the team ready is the job of the managers. These boys work hard and often go unrewarded, but the team would be lost without them.

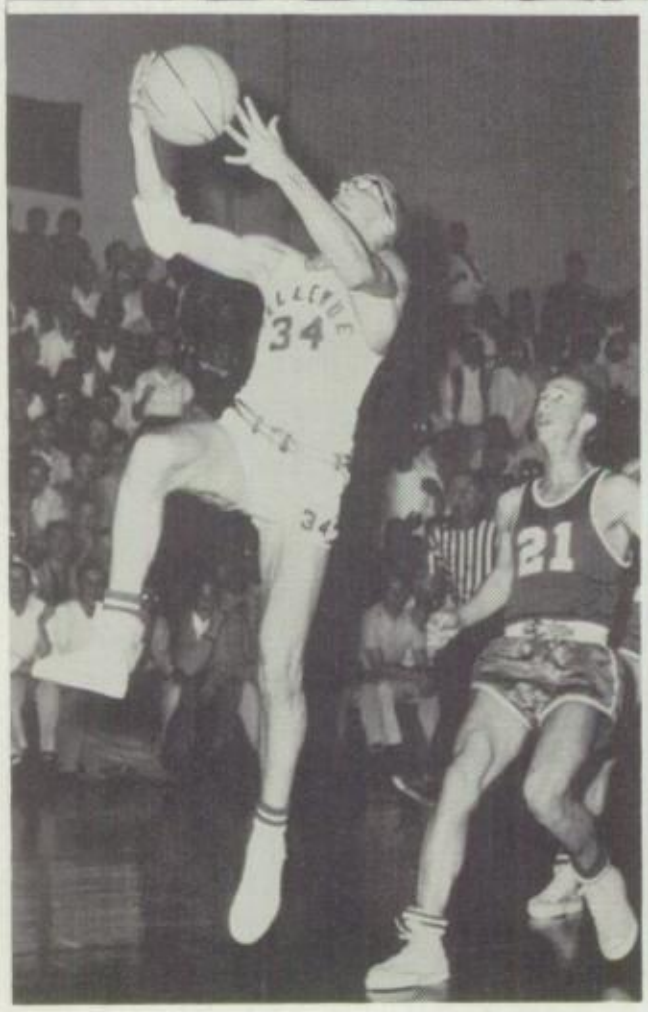
UP "N"



The successful season enjoyed by the junior varsity and sophomore basketball teams holds out considerable promise for the varsity teams of the next two years. A great deal of fine theoretical knowledge and practical experience were provided for these boys by the wise, dynamic coaching of Mr. Jones and Mr. Lincoln. As a result, it is certain that many of these hard-playing lads will be the hoop stars of tomorrow. There is plenty of material coming along to make the classy maple court outfit Bellevue Senior High has been noted for.

RUN! RUN! RUN!

Returning from Oregon, Mr. Haines resumed his position as head coach of Bellevue's track team. To assist coach Haines was head coach of last year, Mr. Jenkins. He led Bellevue to one of the most successful years they have had. With several returning lettermen, Bellevue's team carried on the good tradition of track. The returning lettermen were Skip Duke, pole vault and hurdles; Ken Emanuels, dashes; Mike Riddell, relays; Dave Croly, shot; Dick Arkley, mile; Curt Ellis, pole vault; Doug Rohde, high jump, and John Pierratt. Along with these lettermen, there were many fine juniors and sophomores that assured Bellevue's successes.

HIT! HIT! HIT!

Under the direction of coach Lincoln and coach Bierman the varsity and junior varsity had a good team in '59. Bellevue's hard-working baseball team has what it takes to beat any opposition it will encounter this year. Several returning lettermen were back this year to assure the quality of play Bellevue is accustomed to. The returning lettermen were Paul Dobrin, pitcher; Jerry Plymire, third base; John Dammarell, second base; John Vincent, shortstop; Tom Campbell, outfielder; Dennis Hebner, catcher, and Gary Brame, outfielder. With the students' support the baseball team went far.

DRIVE! DRIVE! DRIVE!

A swift swing and the sharp whiz of a golf club have many times sent fear into the foes of Bellevue's golf team. Long, hard practices on the Overlake golf course, which has become a second home for the golf team, have helped shape the players into a clever and dangerous team. Urged on and instructed wisely by "cool" coach Mr. Peters, and strengthened by returning lettermen, Dick Wielde and Bill Parent, the team represented its school well. It placed second in the league for the third year, a feat which in anybody's language is deserving of much praise. With Bruce Richards and Jonny Aiken, who lettered this year, returning for next season, Bellevue should be a strong contender for first place. Thus, traveling from one green to another, the team putt-putt-ed on, to complete a satisfying year.

TENNIS, ANYONE?

Bellevue's racketeers—well, not musclemen, of course—namely the kids who beat the little fluffy, white sphere back and forth across the tight strung net, have made a good showing. In fact, with the heavy schedule of 30 meets, it has made a darn good showing. Part of the credit naturally goes to their sporty, young coach, Mr. Young. With long and hard practice sessions, the team shaped up into a clean swinging, hard hitting ball club. Setting the pace for the team this year were Doug Boyden, Bill Parent, Mike McMurtray and Diane Ivanek, all returning lettermen. Bellevue High owes much to the tennis team for the fine job it has done.

SKIS, POLES, WAX

The Bellevue girls' ski team proved to be almost unbeatable this season. Though dominated by sophomores, it won almost all its meets. The season's climax was the all-city meet. The girls bested eleven other schools, and brought the trophy to Bellevue.

Led by four-way ace Dick Arkley and a talented junior, Tom Bass, and guided by coach Ed Munro, the boys' ski team was very successful this year. Bellevue proved its supremacy in cross-country by sending Arkley and Bass and alternate Beaupre to the national junior championships. Letter winners were Arkley, Beaupre, Bass, Telfer and Derrig.

STRUGGLING! GROANING! TWISTING!

Struggling and groaning, squirming and twisting—that's what has become familiar to this year's wrestling team. With turnouts consisting of each member running two miles, climbing the ropes three or four times, going through rigorous calisthenics, and then wrestling some other member, one can easily see why the members are among the most muscular boys in school.

This year being the first that wrestling was a major sport, Bellevue did a superb job. With the guidance and effort of their smiling and peppy coach, Mr, Daly, the boys won six, tied one, and lost three of their matches. Several of the boys went to district. Bellevue can be proud of the successful record that the team completed this year. As several lettermen will be returning, Bellevue can be confident that its next year will be "colossal."

FAST, FURIOUS AND FOXY

Boxing, wrestling, volley ball, gymnastics, badminton, table tennis, archery—these were some of the sports enjoyed by Bellevue boys in this year's intramural program. Under the direction of Mr. Potter, competition was keen, and all sports-minded boys could find enjoyable outlets for their interests.

The intramural football championship was won by Dick Arkley's team, but the honors in basketball were heaped up on the scoreboard by none other than the fast, furious, foxy team of hep hoopsters—the teachers. The "profs" managed to beat Jerry Plymire's challengers by one point.

CLUNG! SWISH!

So goes the racket against the ball; so goes the arrow through the air; so goes the hockey stick against the puck; so goes the bone inside the shin! But the lithe, lovely young ladies who turn out for sports after school, adore their athletic life down to the last torn tendon.

Aloft over the trampoline, some high-flying girl somersaults into position for a neat, three-point landing. And end over end, down the tumbling mat comes another nymph, doing some other gravity-defying stunt.

CRACK! CRUNCH!

Many sports absorb the energies of these dauntless damsels. Big black balls go rolling down alleys to rendezvous with pins. Medium-sized "horsehides" go rocketing through the crisp, outdoor air to buddy-up with bats. Little white birds flit across the badminton net. Huge brown globes loop up and up, down and down, homing toward the basket.

Oh, yes, there are casualties—mussed hair-does, broken fingernails, smeared lipstick, smudged noses. But Bellevue's bright-eyed, limber-muscled Dianas couldn't care less.

PRETTY AND PRACTICAL...

Loyalty Club: Loyalty Club can be found polishing trophies, and ushering at high school functions under the guidance of president Jennifer Klamm, vice-president Kerri Wolfstone, secretary Bonnie Thomas, treasurer Libba Milligan and historian Janet Tufts. Other projects include selling tickets to the Lurline open house for the Overlake Service League, an exchange dinner with Lake Washington's Loyalty Club, and painting names on the faculty coffee cups.

HANDSOME AND HELPFUL

Wolverine Guard: "Hey you, slow down!" "No eating in the halls." Upholding school rules is only one duty of the Wolverine Guard. Other services are setting up chairs, parking cars, and escorting Bellevue's homecoming royalty. Under the able leadership of chancellor John King, vice-chancellor Vic Parker, exchequer Carlos Sullivan, and scribe Richard Smaby, Wolverine Guard has had a very successful year.

GO... GO... GO-GO-GO-GO-GO!

Girls' Athletic Association: Fun, Friendship, and physical activity are found in GAA. Led by Miss Outzs, their energetic adviser, and Sandy Hall, president, they have had frequent after-school turnouts and participated in several sports days with other schools in the Kingco League. They also sponsored the Mother-Daughter Sport Night and a welcome picnic for new girls, both highly successful.

Lettermen's Club: The Lettermen's Club, under the advisership of Mr. Len Jones, is composed of Bellevue High School lettermen. They strive to promote good sportsmanship at games. Their work has not been in vain, for this year Bellevue won the sportsmanship trophy for football. The officers: Robin Over, president; Jim Hubbard, vice-president; Jerry Ostendorf, secretary-treasurer, have headed the club in sponsoring a sock dance, the March of Dimes drive and the Smoker.

BELLEVUE BRAINWORK

Honor Society: "Prexied" by Mr. Odle, this is one of Bellevue's most famous clubs. Led by president Dick Smaby, vice-president Carlos Sullivan, secretary Bev Prior and treasurer John Ruhlman, they again sponsored the traditional cruise, which was gorgeous fun.

Eligibility points are: 21 at end of first sophomore semester; 40 at end of sophomore year; 76 at end of junior year; 110 at graduation to keep the Torch. "A" counts five points, "B" three, and "C" one.

THE AFFIRMATIVE RESTS ITS CASE

Debate: "The affirmative rests its case," can be heard resounding from school to school as the Bellevue Debaters travel the Kingco League. This year, placing second in the Puget Sound League, Bellevue went to state for the twentieth year. Under the able advising hand of Mr. Ousley, and their officers, Rick Sherman, president; Bill Brazda, vice-president; Jessi Leighton, secretary, and Kerri Wolfstone, treasurer, they have reason to be proud. During the year these students go to five major college tournaments. A glance at the trophy case in the front hall reveals the many trophies and plaques to show for the Debators' hard work.

OFFICERS: Melinda Matsuoka, president; Kitt Kelley, vice-president; Sally LeCuyer, secretary; Jolita Hylland, treasurer; Beth Holde, historian.

PEP 'N POM POMS

Pep Club: Pep Club, under the leadership of Melinda Matsuoka, this year's president, has encouraged team spirit and good will at Bellevue. Melinda and the other Pep Club officers, Kitt Kelly, vice-president; Sally LeCuyer, secretary; Jolita Hylland, treasurer; and Beth Holde, historian, acclaim their advisor, Mr. Wicker, who has been a great help.

An addition to the club is Honor Guard, which consists of the officers and members who have earned recognition. At the end of each sport season, five girls are taken into the group. All the members wear special uniforms on Monday.

This year, Pep Club also began a special cheering section. This idea has promoted spirit and sportsmanship. We salute them for their accomplishments.

FUN 'N FROLIC

Ski Club: Racing down frigid Cascade slopes—stumps looming up ahead—greeting friends—legs protruding feebly from an icy snow bank—grating up the hand tow—all are part of the unique excitement of an outing with the Kandahar Ski Club.

Under the sterling leadrship of co-advisers Miss Outzs and Mr. Matkovick, the club stages activities ranging from ski wear fashion shows, to the annual "coketail" party. Regular meetings include ski lectures and films, along with supporting and promoting the ski team.

President Dick Arkley, vice-president Lance Chamberlin, secretary Claire McCurdy, historian Emmary Edes, and publicity chairman Liz Freeman, led the club in the promotion of winter frolic and gambol.

CALM, COOL, AND COLLECTED

Student Stenos: It's not all luck that a girl is chosen to be a member of Student Stenos. Every member is hand picked. Prospective members are judged on typing ability, neatness, cooperation, academic standing of a C average or better and ability to get along with people. Mrs. Rogers and Sugar Duey, president, have led the lively group along with Kathy Lindquist, vice-president, and Gail Bilodeau, treasurer. Training girls for secretarial jobs is the main objective in Student Stenos, so they carry on business just as it would be in a real office. Every day they meet new situations and new people, and they learn to handle them with courtesy and poise. Their work includes the printing of football programs for every home game, compiling the student handbook, working for teachers, and many other jobs.

HYDROGEN PLUS SULFUR YIELDS

Science Club: When one is greeted by sweet essence of hydrogren sulfide, the culprits engaged in foul play are usually the high school "Stinkers" (Society for Technical Information Not Known Elsewhere 'Round School). This year the Stinkers, under President Robby Follet and advisers Whitney and Haines, have engaged in broadening their brains by the all-powerful lecture. Dr. Allen M. Sher, a University of Washington biophysicist, demonstrated the relationship of the sciences by tracking froggy heartbeats. Dr. Kinner, a Bell Telephone representative, demonstrated scientific uses for outdated telephone equipment. A representative from Minneapolis-Honeywell described the inertial guidance systems used in guided missiles. Few will forget the Stinkers' Spook House in the Senior Carnival. The high school wouldn't be right without unpredictable Stinkers on the prowl.

THE BARQUERS

Barque: The enterprising Barque staff has undertaken the mammoth job of putting out the "big size" Barque every other Friday. Featured in each issue are different departments in the school, such as math or science, giving a general background of the courses offered at Bellevue. Two editorials have replaced the one. Students applying for college find much helpful information in the regular college survey articles.

Personalities of the staff include Rita Van Etten and Lynn Goddess, editors; Duke Cameron, sports editor; Alexa Sedlar, feature editor; Bill Clay, circulation manager; Gary Cruea, photographer; Karin Severts and Rita Van Etten, ad managers, and Mr. Schulz, adviser.

First row, Kemper Freeman, Rich Smaby, Miss Hardy, Bev Prior, Becky Brant. Second row, Dee Dee Dickinson, Bonnie Funk, Mary Constans, Dina Flanders, Kay Swanson, Anne Ripley, Bruce Morgan, Robin Jenny, Doug Rice, Sandy Hall, Sherry Smith, Jeanette Strickland, Judy Gedney, Carol Horst, John Stickney. Third row, Brian Sjolseth, Paul Mines, Dick Engstrom, Arlis Thornblade, Dennis Hebner, Brooke Van Wyk, Bob Doupe, Elizabeth Freeman, Sally Sorenson, Sharon Throop, Marty Toliver, Tina Johanson, Jennifer Blackburn, Mike Lanigan, Suzanne Johnston, Jo Anne Rossio, Dick Wielde. Fourth row, George Brain, Wolfgang Anderson, Larry Sweney.

STAFF: Rich Smaby, business manager; Bev Prior, editor; Becky Brant, assistant-to-the-editor; Kemper Freeman and Carlos Sullivan, associate editors.

THE BEACONEERS

Beacon class: Another day, another deadline! The Beacon class puts out the Bellevue High annual at a price of approximately $8,000, raised entirely by the class, chiefly through ad-selling. Richard Smaby, business manager, carried the tremendous financial load of the Beacon.

Editor-in-chief Bev Prior, assistant editor Becky Brant, and associate editors Kemper Freeman and Carlos Sullivan take the lead in Bellevue High's largest enterprise outside the ASB.

Behind the hurry and scurry to get things done on time is the energetic adviser Miss Hardy. It is largely through the efforts of this tireless woman that the Bellevue Beacon is the superb annual that it is.

LIGHTS...CAMERA...ACTION!

Drama Club: Do you remember the inspirational Christmas play? Do you recall the selling of carrots at a basketball game for "pep" or the sock dance sponsored by the Drama Club? These were just a few of the activities of Drama Club this year. They gave support to plays given by the school throughout the year. Under the leadership of their president, Bill Brazda, and adviser, Mr. Meshke, they are working for a charter in Thespians.

Stage Crew: This hardworking group, advised by Mr. Sawatsky, receives little recognition for its work. They serve at the majority of the school's dramatic functions. Many times, the stage crew has come to the rescue of the frantic cast when a chair or table crumbled under a "light" touch. Everything from painting scenery to repairing furniture keeps them in constant demand behind the scenes.

First row, Sue Hilliker, Tracy Todd, Teddy Bear, Alexa Sedlar, Diane Putnam. Second row, Sherry Garrett, Barbara Noble, Val Olson, Lori Short, Judy Helberg, Marianne Johnston, Peggy Cosand, Becky Brant, Leslie Willard.

REACHING A HORIZON

Spades: Spades is an active service organization where the girls keep busy aiding retarded children. Seen leading the Spades through their many activities are president Tracy Todd, vice-president Sue Hilliker, secretary Alexa Sedlar, and historian Diane Putnam. "Beyond the blue horizon lies a rising sun." This expresses the girls' feeling for the many handicapped children they help. Despite the obstacles and hardships they run up against, the job these girls have chosen is as rewarding as anything tangible. When the Spades reach their horizon they will feel as if they had conquered the earth.

WILL THERE BE ANYTHING ELSE,SIR?

Distributive Education: D.E. is a two-hour class of employed students who learn about selling. Led by Skip Lindblad, president; Marny Hangauer, secretary; Steve Page, vice-president; Judy Lewis, treasurer, and adviser-teacher Mr. Riggle, they have worked on a dance, decoration of windows in school, field trips through downtown stores, pear and peach promotion, and selling in the student store.

Retail Selling: The Retail Selling class, with teacher-adviser Mr. Riggle learns about, as you may have guessed, retail selling. President Bill Gilman, Vice-President Mike Lanigan, Treasurer Jan Burkholder and Secretary Neva Palmer have led the club in the Christmas Canned Food Drive and, with D.E., a dance and a banquet for employers and employees. All members must be employed for a certain number of hours each year.

EVER ON THE GO

Librarians: Bulletin board arranging, checking overdue lists, assisting adviser Mrs. Fowler, processing new books for student use, keeping charge of reserve books and non-circulaing reference materials, and checking the constant stream of books in and out, repeatedly interrupt any librarian's thought of a lazy day browsing in the library.

Office girls: Messages to deliver, errands to run, impatient mother at desk with child's lunch, "Sorry, Mr. Watson is busy right now," toppled pile of alphabetical students' schedules, attendance to collect, notes to interpret, more messag—"Stop! Where would I be without my office girls??" wonder office advisers Mrs. Diamond and Mrs. Sulenes.

BUSY AS A SHUTTERBUG

Projectionists: The projectionists have proven to be some of Bellevue's hardest working boys. These boys are taken from study hall to go to the classrooms and show movies and slides. They are trained in the use of the projector, but every day presents a problem to this hard working group. Under the direction of Ron Lofstrom, they have become a well-organized group and now receive one full credit for their work. Mrs. Fowler is the adviser.

Photography Club: Busy is the word for the Photography Club. Led by President Sherry Johnson and adviser Mr. Haeck, they have taken an active part in school. Some of their camera subjects are school clubs, Variety Show publicity, and pictures for the school district. The pictures of girls-of-the-month on display in the main hall are another of their projects. Whenever the shutterbugs find time they enjoy field trips.

ARTISTS UNLIMITED

Art Club: For those feeling the urge to express their innate artistic flares, Art Club is the answer. Under the able guidance of President Liz Henry, Vice-President Stephanie Weiss, Secretary Marcia Uddenburg, Treasurer Jacquie Smith, and adviser Mr. Simmons, members have had weekly work meetings and sketch trips and visited museums and local artists.

Math Club: The Ike Newton Society, advised by Math's own Miss Hardy, is open only to students of "F" or better scholastic standing with an intense interest in math, human nature, or goofing off. Officers include Ed Perret, president; Brian Sjolseth, vice-president, and Karl Shumaker, secretary-treasurer. Dr. Nijenhuis, U. of W. modern algebra prof; Mr. Klamm, engineer, and Mr. Stone, civil engineer, have fascinated members with sketches of their work. Anyone with perseverance and individualistic tendencies would thrive on the Ike Newton diet.

"LOOK MA, THIS STUFF'S EASY"

Gymnastics Club: "Sproing! Sproing! Klunk," roars the balconial clatter out over the gym during basketball season. For from the remote area, Bellevue High's tumbling cherubs work out three days per week, performing tasks from the age-old forward roll to the most intricate of pyramids. "The main purpose of the organization," says Mr. Peterson, faculty advisor, "is to develop both interest and coordination in tumbling." One of the means by which this skill and interest is seeded and maintained in these individuals is through the development of competitive routines. Above, Jim Hubbard is featured during one of his faster stunts. Hubbard is the third best tumbler in the Puget Sound area, and the team is fifth of the thirteen schools which participated in the regional meet. Mr. Peterson reminds the school that this very worthwhile organization is open to anyone. Maybe we can't all make a "Sproing! Sproing!" but we can all give a hearty "Klunk."

ADVERTISEMENTS

For the ten years of Bellevue High School's life on the hilltop, the students responsible for the Beacon have been privileged to receive "top" friendliness and cooperation from the merchants of our community. No group of business people could have been more courteous and thoughtful in their relationships with the Beacon.

For the same decade, this same community spirit has been exemplified by our beloved Beacon photographer, Mr. Bill Brant, whose contribution to our welfare is one of the most important traditions of our school.

HAPPY LANDINGS

Is there professional assistance in the house?

This poor senior has just jumped off the tower, after a day of tests by Whitney, Hardy, Sorensen and Terrey.

OUR MOTTO HAS ALWAYS BEEN
"Do Or Die at Bellevue"

Ah, well, here's to good health and happy landings for the class of 1959.

Comes now that wonderful moment, almost at year's end—BEACON DAY! This treasured Bellevue tradition is the climax of the Beacon staff's year. On this day there occurs the full flowering of our school's spirit of friendliness, when everybody signs everybody else's Beacon. This occasion, when the whole school is dedicated to the united enjoyment of the printed record of the year's life, is the staff's reward for the long, hectic struggle to produce this book.

At last the Class of 1959 has reached the moment when it must be ready to pick up its share of the weight of the world. As for the BEACON, the staff is now laying down its heavy load. It has been great fun to build this book, but we are thankful to have reached THE END.
